A Different Kind of Love

Yes, Valentine's Day is here. Nothing says "LOVE" more than a companion pet you saved! We need you!

Our group works endlessly to grow our foster base and volunteers for the purpose of saving local pets from being destroyed simply due to overcrowding at area shelters. We need to spread the word!

Whether you foster, volunteer or adopt with us, YOU are the key link to helping us continue this work!!!

Join our life saving group today!

We all have differing ideas of what "love" is. Could be parental love, sibling love, relationship love, material love, or spiritual love.

For those of us who have pets, well, its hard to explain this love to the common man. We know ourselves that our pets can be considered as intricate parts of our families existing on almost a human "plane".

We keep our emotions in check when speaking to others for fear of being seen as a nut case. However, when we find out that the person we are conversing with is a pet lover, the walls comes down and the cell phones come out sharing names, ages and how the pet was obtained.

It is amazing to see how animals, of any kind or status, bring groups of pet lovers together. Be it rescue coordination, striking up a conversation with a stranger, helping handicapped kids through therapy, to sharing experiences and information, the common "love" of a pet brings the world together.

So if you have not joined the pet lovers of this world yet, check out our pets that were saved literally at the hands of "love".

MC Kitties are Indeed the BEST

It has been just a little over 2 years since I adopted Ruckus (formally Gee) from Zani's Furry Friends and I just wanted to send you an update.

Ruckus is doing great. He is such an amazing, smart, playful little guy. He loves to play and snuggle(or if he wants space he will just bite her and she moves out of his way) with his dog Elka (the German Shepherd). It took Ruckus about a year before he began to come and sit next to me and allow me to pet him and now he just began sitting on my lap. In May of 2014 we moved back to our house in Arkansas. It didn't even seem to phase him. It only took him a short time to learn where everything was. He even made a new friend, a cat named Riley.

Thank you again for pulling him from NYCACC with his "low" behavior score and letting me adopt him.

Thank you a million times for bringing me Owl. He is the funniest, sweetest, most beautiful little creature.

We call them "Silly Lily" and "Shy Lila" though I think Lily thinks her real name is "Lily, no!". Lily is into everything including the dishwasher and refrigerator! She loves to play and carry her stuffed animals all over the house. By contrast, Lila has decided the best part of being a cat is sleeping in soft warm places (even better if the sun is there). Lila's superpower is So.Much.Floof! Despite their differences they remain devoted to one another. Allynn

Why Spay & Neuter?

Low-Cost Spay/Neuter Programs

<http://www.asPCA.org/pet-care/spayneuter>

Through our partnership with PetSmart Charities®, our comprehensive and searchable database is designed to help you find low-cost spay/neuter programs in your community.

We are constantly adding to this database, so if you don't find any listings for your zip code immediately, please check back soon.

Whether you've recently adopted a pet or you're considering it, one of the most important health decisions you'll make is to spay or neuter your cat or dog. Learn more visit Top 10 Reasons to Spay or Neuter Your Pet.

Normally all rescues provide this service for the simple fact they are there saving animals that were a result of overpopulation so your adoption fee goes towards the spay/neuter of your new pet as well as vaccinations.

If you know someone who wants to alter their pet but is concerned about cost, please share this with them!

Cold Weather & Your Pet

As winter really sets upon us this February, the extreme cold is really being felt. Like us, our pets feel the cold too! Although they still need to go about their daily routine, there are some precautions you can take to keep them safe from the elements.

If you live in the city, you know the walkways are cold, wet and sprinkled with salt. When taking Fido out for his daily business, if at all possible use a coat on him or her that covers the belly area to keep salt from splashing up on delicate skin. Also, although many won't tolerate this, use booties! This will minimize exposure to unfriendly melting agents typically used on our sidewalks.

When you return from your walk, have a towel waiting and wipe down underneath as well as each foot and get between those toes! Ideally, a warm wet cloth, followed by a dry towel is the best.
